

Assignment for first reading of Thyme et al paper:

Prior to 10AM on Friday AM, please email me the following:

1. A list of questions you have about the paper. They can be big or small, but I expect at least three questions from each person.
2. Your attempts at understanding the answers to these questions. You don't have to understand something completely, but you should show evidence of trying.

I will read through these Friday morning and compile and print the questions to bring to class. We will go over some of them on Friday.

I will grade your assignment, but it will only be graded out of something like 20 points (compared to the usual 50 or 100).
